Step 1

Lay the long support posts on the ground with the base plate in the desired direction. Slide the fasteners, for the lock-in-fence and plastic panels, over the support posts. Make sure that the slotted holes of the fasteners are on the side of the calf section.

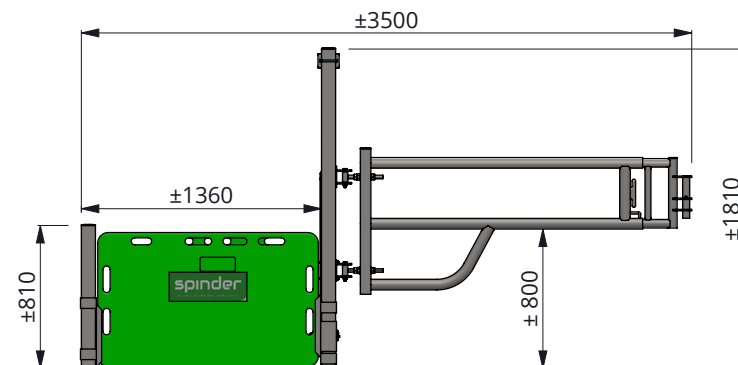

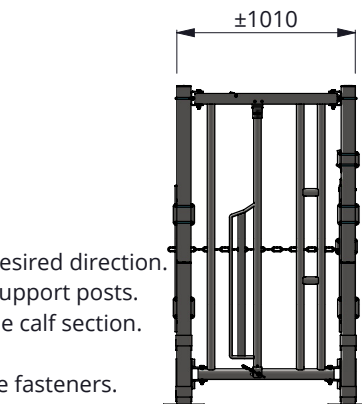

When mounting the lock-in-fence, make use of the slotted holes in the fasteners. Make sure that the balance strip of the lock-in-fence is on the side of the calf section.

Mount the mounting parts on top of the lock-in-fence with the wire brackets. Please note that the slot is on the side of the calf section. Make sure that the eye nut is placed vertically.

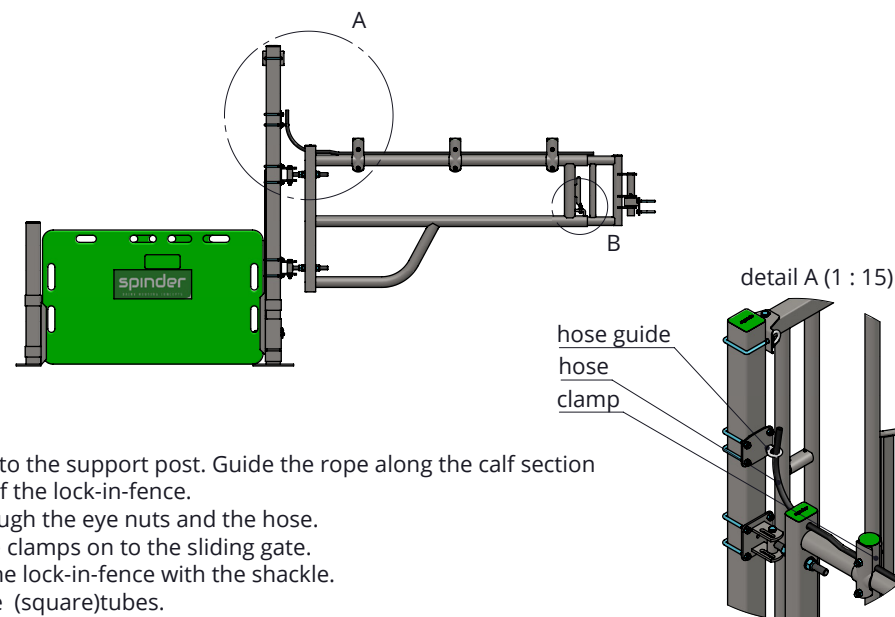

Step 2

Place the mounted lock-in-fence upright. Make sure that the lock-in-fence is level, then mount it on to the floor. Slide the plastic panels in place. Place the short support posts including the fasteners on the other side of the plastic panels. Make sure there is enough room for the panels to easily slide in and out. Mount the short support post on to the floor.

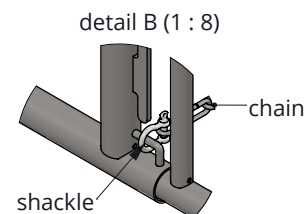

Step 3

Mount the sliding gates on to the square 80x80 support post of the lock-in-fence by using the fastening set for sliding gates.

Step 4

Place the hose guide on to the support post. Guide the rope along the calf section side of the locking bolt of the lock-in-fence. Then slide the rope through the eye nuts and the hose. Mount the hose with the clamps on to the sliding gate. Mount the chain on to the lock-in-fence with the shackle. Place the stoppers in the (square) tubes.
